ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OFFICE, BOSTON, }
January 11, 1869. }

To the Honorable Speaker of the House of Representatives.

SIR:—I have the honor to transmit to the legislature my Annual Report for the past year.

I have, with the assistance of the district attorneys for the several counties, conducted the following trials for murder:—

1. Indictment in Suffolk County against Edwin C. Maguire for the murder of Edward Finnerty, by shooting with a pistol. The defence was that the shooting was done in self-defence. Verdict, guilty of manslaughter. Sentence, seven years imprisonment in the state prison. H. W. Caine and B. F. Russell for the prisoner. The trial was in February.

2. Indictment in Suffolk County against Francis McAveney, for the murder of Mary Geary, by shooting with a pistol. He had been tried once before by my predecessor, with a disagreement of the jury. On the present trial, which was in February, the jury also disagreed. The evidence was circumstantial, but pointed so strongly to the guilt of the prisoner that I immediately applied to the court to fix a time for a third trial, which was done.

3. The third trial of McAveney was in March, and again resulted in a disagreement of the jury. The prisoner thereupon moved to be discharged upon his own recognizance, which I opposed; but the court granted the motion. Nothing more was done in the case since. C. F. Hudson and A. J. Sanger were the prisoners. In all of the foregoing cases I was assisted by District Attorney Sanger.

4. Indictment in Norfolk County against Kiern Rigney for the murder of Thomas A. Cleary, by stabbing with a knife. The principal defence was that the act was done either in self-defence or under such circumstances as to amount only to manslaughter. The trial was in May. Verdict, guilty of murder in the 2d degree. Sentence, imprisonment for life in the state prison. W. Gaston and J. W. Rollins for the prisoner. District Attorney Pierce assisted me in the prosecution.

5. Indictment in Worcester County against Silas James and Charles T. James for the murder of Joseph G. Clark, by chopping open his head with a hatchet. The evidence in this case showed a deliberate murder, planned and perpetrated for the purpose of robbery. Both prisoners were found guilty of murder in the 1st degree, and were sentenced to death, and were accordingly hung on the 25th of September. Both confessed their guilt. The trial was in June. G. F. Verry and S. Utley for Silas James; and P. E. Aldrich and F. W. Southwick for Charles T. James. District Attorney Williams assisted me in the prosecution.

6. Indictment in Plymouth County against Samuel M. Andrews for the murder of Cornelius Holmes, by blows upon his head with ^{the} ^{pr} or with instruments unknown. The defence was ^{the} ^{nt to} deceased made an assault upon the prisoner, while ^{commit} the crime against nature, and that th and temporary ^{impelling} that assault, was seized with a ^{add} ^{sanity}, during which he killed the ^{rs} imprisonment in the ^{state} prison. Sentence, twenty years imprisonment in the state prison. G. A. Somerby and C. Davis for the prisoner. District Attorney Pierce assisted me in the prosecution.

Besides the above trials several other indictments for murder have been disposed of, permanently or temporarily, as follows:—

7. Indictment in Worcester County against William McGrath, murder of John McCarty, by striking him with an iron ^{cepted} a plea of guilt, ^{y of} murder in the 2d degree, sentenced to imprisonment in

8. Indictment in Worcester County against James E. Shepard, for the murder of his wife, Laura A. Shepard, by shooting with a pistol. In this case, after the evidence on the part of the Commonwealth had been put in, I accepted a plea of guilty of murder in the 2d degree, on the ground that the prisoner appeared to have such low mental capacity as not to be a proper subject for capital punishment, and he was thereupon sentenced to imprisonment for life in the state prison.

9. Indictment in Middlesex County against Andrew Donnelly, for the murder of Jacob Hanscom, by striking him upon the head with a shovel. The prisoner appeared to be probably insane, and with my consent was committed by the court to the State Lunatic Hospital at Taunton, before trial, under the provisions of Gen. Sts. c. 172, § 14.

10. Indictment in Middlesex County against John McCort, for the murder of his wife, Mary McCort, by numerous blows with a club and with his fists, and by kicking her. I accepted a plea of guilty of manslaughter, upon which the prisoner was sentenced to imprisonment for fourteen years in the state prison.

This is, I suppose, a greater number of indictments for murder than has ever before been disposed of in one year in Massachusetts; yet several cases remain to be disposed of hereafter. There has been no instance of acquittal, but the disagreement in the repeated trials in McAvena's case leads to the inquiry whether there is any defect in the existing laws. After each of the two trials of McAvena, which were conducted by me, one or more of the jurors came to me voluntarily for the purpose of informing me of the result of their deliberations among themselves; feeling, as they said, that the cause of justice required that the disclosure should be made. I accordingly made the following statements, in objecting to the motion for the prisoner's discharge upon his own recognizance:—

“The prisoner has been tried upon this indictment three times, (the first time being in my predecessor's term of office,) and at each trial the jury have disagreed. Ordinarily, upon this state of facts, I should not object to the granting of the motion now made. But this case is peculiar. Before the commencement of the second trial, two of the jurors who had been drawn and summoned were pointed out to me as persons who would not be likely to convict the prisoner. But the prosecuting officers were reluctant to challenge them peremptorily, as the law giving authority to do so was apparently about to be repealed; and, after answering the statute questions, they were allowed to serve. That jury, throughout their deliberations on their verdict, stood ten for conviction to two for acquittal; the two for acquittal being the same who had been pointed out in advance as not likely to convict. At the third trial, the jury at the outset of their deliberations stood ten for conviction to two for acquittal, and shortly thereafter eleven to one. The dissenting juror declared that he did not believe testimony which all his associates considered trustworthy. Under these circumstances, the guilt of the prisoner appears to be so probable, that I am not willing to consent to his discharge. The court are in possession of the facts, and to their decision I shall cheerfully bow. But if the prisoner is not discharged, and if there shall appear to be a prospect of obtaining a fair jury, the prosecuting officers will not shrink from the labor of a fourth trial, nor despair even yet of obtaining a just conviction."

The court thought it their duty to discharge the prisoner upon his own recognizance; partly, as I understood, because there appeared to be no probability that, upon another trial, a jury could be empanelled who would agree upon a verdict of guilty.

In this case, there is no doubt in my mind that a murderer escaped conviction; and, as there appeared to be no reason, at either trial, why a fair jury should not convict, and as in point of fact there was reason to believe that all the fair jurors at each trial were in favor of a conviction, the question presents itself whether there is any defect in the laws, in consequence of which the conviction of a murderer in Suffolk County may be impossible or difficult. It seems to me that there is; and I respectfully recommend a change in two respects. 1. That the statutes may be so altered that in cities there shall be greater care and more immediate responsibility in determining upon the names to go into the jury-box. At one of the trials of McAvena, about one quarter of the jurors summoned were either disqualified or legally exempt from jury duty. A system which should call for stricter scrutiny in selecting the names, and should also leave upon some small body in cities, as there now is upon the selectmen of towns, a personal responsibility for the character of the persons selected, would improve the administration of justice, both in criminal and civil cases. 2. That the right of challenging jurors may be restored to the prosecuting officers. In my annual report for last year, I submitted to the legislature my own opinion that the statute then in force, St. 1867, c. 254, authorizing the Commonwealth to challenge two jurors peremptorily in criminal causes, was a wise one and should be retained. It was, however, repealed. On the 15th day of May, 1867, in reply to a letter of inquiry received from His Excellency Governor Bullock, I addressed to him an official communication, showing that the prosecuting officers had a right of peremptory challenge of jurors in criminal causes, under the laws of twenty-seven states of this Union, and also in the courts of the United States under an act of congress; and that in England, under a practice which has long prevailed, and is firmly established, the prosecuting officers, by setting aside jurors when the list is first called, have a virtual right of challenge which is practically unlimited. Since that time, the Maine statute of 1867, c. 108, has been published, giving there a right of peremptory challenge to the public prosecutors; and the same authority exists in the territories of Nebraska, Colorado, Dakota, Idaho, and Washington. The only states and territory in which this right does not now exist by statute, so far as I am aware, are Vermont, Massachusetts, New Jersey, Virginia, West Virginia, South Carolina, Florida, Minnesota, and Utah. In South Carolina, and perhaps in others of these states, a practice prevails like that in England.

The experience of the past year has confirmed me in the opinion that, especially in states where there is a considerable transient population, so that there is less opportunity for those who revise the jury lists to ascertain the personal characters of the citizens, it is quite essential that the right of peremptory challenge on the part of the prosecutors should exist. The statute of the United States of 1865, c. 86, § 2, gives to the government the right to challenge five jurors peremptorily in cases of treason, and two in other cases. I respectfully recommend that the Commonwealth be authorized to challenge five jurors peremptorily in all criminal causes in which the punishment may be as severe as imprisonment for life, and two in all other criminal causes.

I also respectfully recommend, (repeating in substance my recommendation of last year,) that a statute may be passed providing that indictments for murder, when found, shall at once, if the person accused is in custody, or if not, then immediately after his arrest, be transmitted to and entered in the supreme judicial court for the county, at any time, either in term time or vacation; and that the clerk of the supreme judicial court for the county shall thereupon send notice thereof to the chief or first justice of that court, and to the attorney general, with a copy of the indictment; and that a time may thereupon be appointed by said justice or any other justice of said court, for the arraignment of the prisoner upon the indictment, which time may be either in term time or vacation; and that the proceedings upon his arraignment, and all other proceedings in the case, may be as now provided by law. The increased number of indictments to be tried or otherwise disposed of renders it quite desirable that some change in the statutes should be made, giving greater power of fixing convenient times for bringing the cases before the court.

I also respectfully recommend the passage of a statute, similar to the existing English statute, to the effect that facts proving embezzlement shall be no defence to an indictment for larceny, and facts proving larceny shall be no defence to an indictment for embezzlement. The chief distinction between the two offences consists in the relation which the thief sustains to the owner of the goods. If it is a peculiar kind of fiduciary relation, the offence is embezzlement; otherwise it is larceny. The facts may appear slightly different upon different trials; or different juries may find differently upon the same testimony. In Commonwealth v. O'Malley, 97 Mass. 585, the defendant was indicted for embezzlement, and escaped on the ground that the facts as proved showed him to be guilty of larceny. He had before been indicted for larceny, and acquitted on the ground that the facts as proved showed him to be guilty of embezzlement. In my opinion, there is no constitutional objection to a statute which will make such a result hereafter impossible.

Various other matters have from time to time been brought to my attention, in respect to which the criminal jurisprudence and the proper and economical administration of the criminal law may be susceptible of improvement; but I am not now prepared formally to recommend any further specific changes.

The most important civil business of this office, pending in the courts, which has been brought to a conclusion within the past year, was the tax cases argued in the supreme court of the United States in February, in which it was established that the taxes upon savings banks and manufacturing companies are valid, and that no abatement from them need be made on account of United States bonds which these corporations may hold. If our statutes had been declared illegal, the legislature would doubtless have been called upon to refund taxes to the amount of nearly $600,000, which in that event would have been deemed to have been illegally collected by the Commonwealth on account of United States bonds held by these corporations.

The amount of money collected in this office for the Commonwealth, during the past year, has been $140,277.06; all of which has been accounted for to the treasurer.

The amount expended for the contingent expenses of civil actions in which the Commonwealth is a party or has an interest has been $298.49.

I append a condensed statement of the substance of certain official opinions given by me heretofore, which may properly be made public at this time, in order that it may be known what construction has been put upon the constitutional and statutory provisions under consideration.

I have the honor to be,

Very respectfully,

Your obedient servant,

CHARLES ALLEN.

ABSTRACTS OF OFFICIAL OPINIONS.

CONSTABLE OF THE COMMONWEALTH.

The provision in St. 1868, c. 338, that no member of the state police shall be entitled to receive witness fees, was intended as a general provision, and does not expire with the year 1868.

CRIMINAL JURISDICTION.

It is the duty of police officers of the city of Boston, and also of the constable of the Commonwealth and his deputies, to prevent crime and preserve order upon the cross-dam, in like manner as in other portions of the city.

ELECTIONS.

When the governor and council, in pursuance of their duty, have examined the returns of votes for an officer, and arrived at a result, and the governor has issued his summons to such person as appears to be chosen, and in the presence of five councillors has made and subscribed a certificate of such result, and delivered the same, with the returns, to the secretary of the Commonwealth, they have discharged the entire duty devolving upon them, in this respect, and cannot properly grant a new hearing, or make a new examination of the returns, unless for the purpose of correcting some mistake made by themselves.

The St. of 1863, c. 144, § 3, providing that if, within sixty days of an election, any person who received votes for any office shall notify the clerk of any city that he claims an election to such office, the clerk shall retain the ballots cast at the election "subject to the order of the body to which such person shall claim to have been elected," cannot be taken literally; but must be construed to mean, "subject to the order of the body to which such person shall present, for their decision, his claim of an election," or "subject to the order of the body whose duty it is to determine upon the election."

ESCAPE.

If one imprisoned under sentence in the state prison escapes therefrom before his term expires, and is recaptured, the time of his absence should not count upon his term, but he should be held for the full length of time for which he was sentenced.

INSURANCE.

Under St. 1867, c. 267, §§ 2, 4, only one fee of twenty dollars need be paid by an insurance company of a foreign country for filing the annual and supplementary statements therein required.

If a mutual insurance company receives from persons insured a certain sum as premium, and an additional sum as "deposit money," both of which under their by-laws constitute the absolute fund of the company, the sums received as "deposit money" should be reckoned as premiums, in estimating their taxes; and such portion thereof as is subsequently returned to the persons insured may be deducted.

JUSTICES OF THE PEACE.

By the true spirit of the constitution and statutes, it is contemplated that justices of the peace should be inhabitants of the Commonwealth; although there is no provision which in express terms requires it.

An abandonment of residence in this Commonwealth, and an acquirement of residence elsewhere, operate as an abandonment of the office of justice of the peace.

Having made such abandonment of residence in this Commonwealth, it is not competent for a former justice of the peace, upon returning here, and of his own mere choice, to resume his office, within the term for which he was originally appointed. If, however, he does so, and no steps are taken against him calling his authority into question, he becomes a justice of the peace de facto, and his acts will be valid as to third persons, so far that they cannot be collaterally inquired into; and a commission designating him as trial justice will be valid and effectual, though issued without any new appointment of him as a justice of the peace.

PARDON.

A pardon may properly be granted to one who has been found guilty by a jury, although no sentence or judgment of court has followed thereupon.

PILOTAGE.

A pilot's bond to the treasurer of the Commonwealth, given under St. 1862, c. 176, § 19, is intended for the benefit of individuals who may suffer from the pilot's failure to perform his duties faithfully, as well as for the benefit of the Commonwealth; and may be put in suit by the treasurer, with the approval of the attorney general, for the benefit of an individual who has so suffered.

PILOT COMMISSIONERS.

Both of the commissioners of pilots for the harbor of Boston must join in all acts which are required to be done by them as a board, and one of them cannot delegate his power to the other. But ordinarily it is not necessary that they should act in the presence of each other. In those cases, however, where they are to act as a court, to examine into and decide upon complaints, to hear or examine evidence, and act judicially thereon, it is necessary that they should act together.

PUBLIC OFFICERS.

It is not the duty of a district attorney to appear and defend a suit against an officer of the Commonwealth for an alleged violation of law in the discharge of his duties as an agent of the Commonwealth, unless the circumstances are such that the Commonwealth may fairly be said to be interested in the suit.

Ordinarily, the Commonwealth does not undertake to indemnify its subordinate public officers against the consequences of their own misdemeanors, wrongs, negligences or omissions, which occur through an honest but mistaken sense of duty; nor to vindicate them against charges of such wrongful acts, although such charges may be ill-founded.

If, however, the alleged violation of law consists in the proper performance of a particular act, which in the pursuance of his official duty a public officer is required to do for the Commonwealth ; as, for example, an act done by order of the legislature, or of the governor and council ; then the Commonwealth will indemnify him, and in such case is interested in the suit against him to recover damages therefor.

In case of doubt whether the Commonwealth is so interested in a suit against a subordinate public officer that it is the duty of a district attorney to appear and defend the same, the decision may well be made by the governor and council.

SETTLEMENT.

Continuance in the military or naval service of the United States for one full year is essential to the acquirement of a settlement, under St. 1865, c. 230, § 1, unless in case of death or disability occurring before that time, as therein provided. Service for a less term will not have the effect to give a settlement, although such service continued until the discharge of the soldier or sailor, by reason of the termination of the war.

STATE ALMSHOUSE.

If a minor dies while an inmate of a state almshouse, being at the time of his decease actually chargeable to the Commonwealth, and leaving money received by him or which he was entitled to receive as bounty for enlisting as a soldier, the inspectors may apply the same so far as necessary to re-imburse the Commonwealth for expenses actually incurred for him ; but otherwise, such money will descend to his heirs, or, if he has no heirs, to the Commonwealth.
